KELLERRÄUBER — EPISODE II

Join us for the second Kellerräuber long-day lunch!

Four winemakers. Aged Natural wines. A long table.
And a guest chef taking care of dessert.

Only 20 seats available.

ATTENTION, ATTENTION!

New loot. New feast.

The KELLERRÄUBER are back for round two!

Once again, we went deep — quite literally — crawling into the farthest corners of cellars we have come to love, hunting down bottles worth bringing back to the table. And once again, the effort paid off: we uncovered a few true gems. Matured natural wines alongside current vintages, all caught at their perfect drinking moment.

And, apparently, our powers of persuasion still work: we've once again convinced the winemakers themselves to join us at the table and pour, talk and share their wines with you.

To celebrate these bottles and the people behind them, we're inviting you to a long, leisurely lunch with an open end on Sunday, September 13th, on the terrace of @panorama.kroev.

True to the unconventional spirit of the wines, we'll take you through the afternoon without too many rules. Expect a relaxed, familiar atmosphere, one long table, great company and a carefully curated menu by @panorama.kroev, with support from @greensberriesandcherries, designed to pair with the wines. And of course, there will be plenty of time to listen to the winemakers themselves as they introduce their bottles and share the stories behind them.

THE WINEMAKERS

Jakob Tennstedt

Jan Matthias Klein — Weingut Staffelter Hof

Thorsten Melsheimer

Rita & Rudolf Trossen

But there's more.

For this one day only, we'll be opening a special aged natural wine list, featuring a selection of extremely limited bottles from all four wineries — bottles that you won't find on the regular menu.

They are rare, they are precious, and there aren't many of them. So we encourage you to be just as generous and mischievous with them as we are with you: share the bottles. After all, drinking alone is no fun.

We can't think of a better way to spend a Sunday than around a long table, with great wines, great food and the extraordinary people who made them.
